The Feel:

Privately tucked away in a coveted Barwon Heads pocket, this architecturally designed home delivers a refined take on coastal living - where light, space and thoughtful zoning come together with effortless ease. Cedar-clad exteriors and natural timber accents set a warm, textural tone, while inside, polished concrete floors, high ceilings and a calm, neutral palette create a sense of understated sophistication. The open plan living domain flows seamlessly to sunlit outdoor spaces, capturing prized north and east aspects, while a clever dual-level layout offers separation and flexibility for family life. With every detail carefully considered - from bespoke joinery to natural ventilation - this is a home that feels as good as it functions, all just moments from the river, village and coastline.
